

Short Lists

Look over the long lists you created on the Results page for abilities, interests, and motivators. Select your top five to seven abilities, top five to seven interests, and top five to seven motivators. Your selections should be the abilities, interests, and motivators that you would most like to use or actualize in your future work.

Hint: You may want to combine several related items into one more general term. For example, talking, writing, and speaking skills could all be combined using the more general term communicating.
